

THE EAST HAMPTON STAR

SHINES FOR ALL

The East Hampton Star, June 26, 2003

Keeping Account

Therapist on Board

Erik Peterson, a physical therapist from East Hampton, has joined Hampton Medical Wellness, a group of rehabilitation specialists centered around physical medicine.

Mr. Peterson was most recently affiliated with Southampton Hospital's orthopedic division. His work ranges from acute and inpatient rehabilitative care through the process of home health care, and finally to the outpatient portion of a course of therapy.

Hampton Medical Wellness is on Fieldview Lane in East Hampton.

New Vice President

Bruce Bradley has been appointed a senior vice president in the commercial lending group at Suffolk County National Bank. A graduate of Niagara University with a degree in management and marketing, Mr. Bradley, who lives in Remsenburg, works at the bank's Southampton branch.

Remote Control House

Beginning Tuesday, a new Web site, connectedhearth.com, will allow subscribers to monitor the thermostat, lights, and security system at their houses through the Internet. By logging on to the site they can set a chain of commands into motion — such as turning on exterior lights and firing up the Jacuzzi, according to a press release. The company's founder, John Thorsen Jr., lives in Springs.

On Suffolk's Board

Ralph Gibson, M.D., of Northwest Woods, East Hampton, the executive director of the East Hampton Health Care Center on Pantigo Place who also practices internal medicine there, has been named a board member of Suffolk